LABEL BROOKLYN COLLEGE FOR ITS RED PROPAGANDA

New York School is Called Hotbed of Communism

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Congressional investigators heard testimony today that Brooklyn College, New York, "might quite fairly be labeled a hotbed of propaganda" and Communist activity.

Professor Edward I. Fenlon of the college's department of philosophy made the assertion in testimony before the house committee investigating un-American activities.

The witness added that in his opinion there was widespread Communist activity in many other colleges and universities.

He said that "The Teachers' Union," a C. I. O. affiliate active at Brooklyn College, was in his opinion "Communist controlled" and "Communist dictated," although many members were ignorant of its true purpose.

Letter From F. D. R.

Fenlon also told the committee the "Stalinist-supported chairman" of the "alien directed" American Youth Congress had received a letter from President Roosevelt in 1936 lauding the congress for aiding democracy.

Fenlon added that "Mrs. Roosevelt has gone out of the way unwittingly to inspire the alien spirit that undoubtedly controls the congress."

The congress to which Fenlon referred met in Milwaukee in 1936. He said "The President also sent a letter of regard to the American Youth Congress at its last December meeting at Poughkeepsie."

The witness also contended that the World Youth Congress at Vassar college was radical-dominated and a "danger" to democracy because it serves to spread the "leaven" of Communism.

Corroborates Testimony

Professor Earl A. Martin, chairman of the biology department at Brooklyn, corroborated much of Professor Fenlon's testimony about Communism in Brooklyn college.

Chairman Dies (D-Tex) announced public hearings would be recessed after today's session. He said a sub-committee of four headed by Rep. Starnes (D-Ala.) would go to New York for a preliminary examination of material gathered for the new phase of the inquiry.

The Starnes group will begin hearings in about a week, and expects to complete its work seven or eight days later. Representatives Dempsey (D-NM), Healey (D-Mass) and Thomas (R-NJ) will accompany Starnes.

Dempsey, Starnes and Mosier (D-Ohio) will form a sub-committee to work on the west coast, and Mosier, Dies and Mason (R-Ill) will conduct a mid-western inquiry.

Slavery Practices Charged by Lawyer

Forrest City, Ark., Aug. 23.—(AP)—A charge of peonage practices in the eastern Arkansas plantation belt was revived today in a habeas corpus action led by K. T. Sutton, Helena, attorney.

Sutton brought the action in behalf of a Negro he named as Tony Hicks, 25, of Helena, who he said had been arrested for trespass in Crittenden county, tried in St. Francis county and turned over to a private plantation in adjoining Cross county to work out a fine as a member of a chain gang.

Hearing on the petition, alleging "peonage and a revival of the old feudal system," was set for tomorrow by Chancellor A. L. Hutchins.

Two years ago, similar charges resulted in City Marshall Paul D. Peacher of Earle, Ark., in Crittenden county, being brought to trial in federal court on a charge of violating anti-slavery statutes. He was fined $3,500 and placed under two years suspended sentence.

Five Killed Today In Auto Collision

Mammoth Cave, Ky., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Five persons were killed today when two automobiles collided head-on on highway 31 a quarter of a mile north of Park City.

The dead: J. C. Wilson, 286, Horse Cave, Ky.

Tentatively identified: Forrest Miller, 53; Forrest Miller, Jr., 21, Helen Miller, 16, all of Athens, Ala., and Mrs. Robert Turner, address unknown.

Smith Reunion

Benton, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Smith will meet Smith at the Franklin county fair grounds on Sept. 11, and they're expecting quite a turnout.

Three Benton attorneys named Smith—none of them related—called for the first convention of all the Smiths of southern Illinois and said they hoped to make it an annual event.

"From the responses we're getting, I believe we'll have an enormous crowd," said Robert E. Smith. The other two sponsors are Col. O. C. Smith, former superintendent of the Knights of Pythias Orphans' Home at Decatur, and Curtis E. Smith.

They said they believed there were 15,000 Smiths in southern Illinois.

RICH EX-BARBER KILLS SELF IN HIS OLD SHOP

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The coroner's office wrote down as a suicide today the death of Elio Corvi, 56, a millionaire ex-barber who never felt quite at home away from his old shop in the Latin quarter.

Corvi was alone in the old shop yesterday when a gas blast wrecked it, injuring him fatally. Deputy Coroner Mike Brown said Corvi himself had set off the explosion after sealing up crevices of the room and filling it with gas.

Brown made public a note found near the body which read: "Danger for gas—forgive me, Ada and family, tired of living."

The barber effected an astonishing coup in the stock market 12 years ago, and retired with a fortune reputed to have been three million dollars. He bought a mansion in San Francisco's aristocratic Pacific Heights district and moved there with his family.

But Corvi failed to find happiness in his new surroundings. More and more in recent years he visited the haunts of his humbler days. In the last few months, his friends said, he had appeared several times a week at the modest little shop where he once worked.

SEEK 2 WOMEN IN MURDER OF STATE FARMER

Fairfield, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Coroner James Colbert said today two women were being sought for questioning in the killing of Felix Shannon, 56, widely known Mt. Erie farmer, whose body, with two bullet holes in the head, was found yesterday afternoon in the bedroom of his home.

Colbert said Sheriff Earnest Burkett and other officers had motored to Kentucky in search of two women, who were reported at Henderson, Ky., last night.

A coroner's jury returned an open verdict after hearing a witness testify he saw Shannon driving through Mount Erie Sunday night, with a woman in the car. The witness said he did not believe he could identify the woman.

The coroner said Shannon's automobile was found in a ditch, a mile and a half from his home. A pistol, with three discharged cartridges, was found behind the car, Colbert said.

A third bullet hole was found in a pillow of Shannon's bed and a pair of woman's shoes and a woman's purse were found beside the body, Colbert reported. The body was unclad when found.

Dr. J. F. Dixon of Mount Erie said Shannon apparently had been dead since Sunday night. The bullets had been fired at close range, he opined.

Dr. Dixon said Shannon's estranged wife and five children reside near Princeton, Ind.

Industrialist to Spend $25,000

He Can't Afford to Arouse G.O.P.

Washington, Ind., Aug. 2.—(AP)—A New York state industrialist who believes business men opposed to the New Deal should do more to fight it will follow his own precept and stake the Republican party to a costly rally near here next Saturday.

Homer E. Capehart, native Hoosier now of Buffalo, N. Y., and vice president of the Wurlitzer Company, musical instrument manufacturers, will pay for food and entertainment for some 8,500 party workers at an all-day

"cornfield conference" to open the nationwide Republican congressional campaign.

The rally will be held in a 120-acre field on Capehart's farm near here. Indiana Republican leaders estimate it will cost him upward of $25,000.

"I can't afford it," said Capehart, here to finish arrangements, "but we can't beat those Democrats with firecrackers."

"I'm sick and tired of hearing business men cuss the New Deal and do nothing about it."

SAYS CONCERNS TRIED TO STOP TVA POWER SALE

Counsel Testifies To The Investigating Committee

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Francis Biddle, counsel for a congressional committee investigating the TVA, told the committee today private utilities have attempted to prevent sale of TVA power to municipalities through "false propaganda, injunctions and organizations of so-called citizens' committees."

The statement was made as the committee opened its hearing here after transferring from Knoxville.

Biddle said testimony would deal only with Chattanooga, but added that similar methods have been used at Paris, Jackson and Union City, Tenn.

"An example of the power companies' attitude," he said, "is shown by a statement of the Kentucky-Tennessee Power company operating at Paris, which said one of its departments was being used 'to combat municipal ownership.'"

The witness was L. J. Wilhoite, acting chairman of the Chattanooga electric power board, a municipal committee created to obtain public power.

Biddle described "many Chattanooga citizens' efforts to get public power over a period of about eight years."

He said such a move was opposed for many years by the Chattanooga chamber of commerce, which he added "was working hand in glove with the private utilities at that time."

"A committee of the chamber of commerce even tried to have the power provisions taken from the Norris bill which created the TVA," he asserted.

"Later the chamber brought in as a speaker Henry I. Harriman of Boston, then president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce who gave out the hottest private propaganda I ever heard," Wilhoite said the chamber of commerce then declined to hold another meeting and allow an advocate of public power to speak.

"After Harriman's speech," he declared, "James A. Longley, vice president of the Tennessee Electric Power Company told the chamber that 'public power agitation is futile at this time because of legal barriers.'"

Chicago Insurance Company is Robbed

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Three unkempt gunmen forced six life employees of a Metropolitan Life Insurance company branch office to lie on the floor today while they robbed the cashier of $3,500.

Twenty agents seated in an outer room were guarded by one robber as his companions, wearing handkerchief masks, entered the cash cage.

SOLDIERS POISONED

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Stricken by what physicians diagnosed as food poisoning, 60 soldiers of the 17th Field Artillery, Fort Bragg, N. C., were in Marine hospital today. None was considered in a dangerous condition.

Plaques for Heroes

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Guns used in prohibition gang wars are being made into plaques for public heroes.

Coroner Frank J. Walsh had 600 of them melted and cast into mementoes. One was a sub-machine gun used to kill Earl (Hymie) Weiss in front of a cathedral in 1926.

The first plaque will be awarded to Lige Debowski, a chef who was wounded five times in a duel with two robbers last year.

NEURITIS KEEPS TENNIS QUEEN FROM PLAYING

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Because of the effects of "a severe attack of neuritis," which has kept her out of competition since returning from her Wimbledon triumph, Helen Wills Moody today notified the U. S. L. Tennis Association she would not play in the forthcoming national women's singles championships at Forest Hills.

Mrs. Moody disclosed her decision in a letter to Edward B. Moss, executive secretary of the U. S. L. T. A.

She explained she had failed to respond to treatment, since coming back to this country, and did not feel that she would be able, without sufficient practice, "to play in such competition as offered by Forest Hills."

The long-time queen of the tennis courts, who undertook a comeback campaign this year the idea of seeking to regain the American singles crown as well as honors at Wimbledon, accompanied her notice of withdrawal with a refund of her entire expenses, amounting to $1,309.45, for her trip to England with the Wightman cup team.

She expressed hope the U. S. L. T. A. would accept the refund, in view of her inability to fulfill her promise to compete in the national tournament.

While making no definite commitment as to her plans otherwise, the tone of Mrs. Moody's letter was interpreted by some observers as indicating a farewell to amateur tennis.

Heart Attack was Fatal to W. Myers

William Myers, aged 47, residing at 121½ First street, dropped dead this morning about 10:45 while employed at the Loois gravel plant. A few minutes before he was stricken he was observed walking toward the office building, when he suddenly slumped to the ground. A physician was summoned and upon his arrival pronounced life extinct. A heart attack was believed to have caused his sudden death.

Mr. Myers came to Dixon from Milledgeville about three years ago and had made his home here since. He is survived by his widow and several other relatives. Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, coroner, was summoned to the gravel plant and ordered the body removed to the Preston funeral home where an inquest was scheduled for 3 P. M. today.

Linemen of Power Company on Strike

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Cutting of power lines and dynamiting of a steel transmission tower carrying high voltage lines was reported today by J. C. Guild, Jr., president of the Tennessee Electric Power company who said a strike of linemen was in progress.

In a statement issued through the company's office, he said four of the company's main feeder lines in the vicinity of Columbia, Tenn., were cut down last night, cutting off service to 20 towns. Early today, he added, a steel tower carrying high voltage lines tying the services of the Tennessee company and the Alabama Power company was dynamited at Iron City on the Alabama state line.

Guild said the main feeder lines had been put back in commission.

Coy Smile Out

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—That coy feminine smile is "out" in portraiture, it was noted today in a survey of a large exhibit of Canadian and American photographers' art at the 51st annual convention of the Photographers Association of America.

Everyone who has "looked at the birdie" knows it is serious business and now it is "art" to look serious. But there "must be life in the expression"—so go the new terms.

A total of 2,000 photographs from brides in white satin to fried eggs in color were selected from more than 6,000 entries for the association's exhibit.

Terse News

CHICKEN THIEVES BUSY

Chicken thieves have begun their activities early this season, according to reports at the sheriff's office and are showing a preference to heavy springers. The Shippert farm in Nachusa township was visited a few nights ago and about 60 barred rock springers were selected from the flock and hauled away.

NEW STATE BUILDINGS

The Joeststrom Construction Company, Inc., of Rockford, has started work on the excavations for several new buildings to be added to the state highway department property on Depot avenue. The new structures will house the paint shop, blacksmith department and additional storage space for the state owned highway maintenance equipment.

CORPS TO PRACTICE

Members of Boy Scout troop, No. 89, will meet this evening at 6:30 at the Christian church. This will be the final practice session "or the drum and bugle corps and drill team before their participation in the annual Lee county fair program and all members are requested to be present. Scoutmaster Kenneth Abbott leaves early tomorrow for the Red Cross training camp at Oconomowoc, Wis., and during his absence A. H. Ferger and "Mickey" McMillin will have charge of the troop activities.

START HIGHWAY WORK

The Joyce Construction Company of Springfield yesterday started work on the remodeling and modernization of route 330 east of Dixon in Dixon and Nachusa township. The highway is closed to traffic from Burkett school east, and barricade will be extended to the Burkett's corner the first of the week, after the close of the annual Lee county fair and horse show at the airport. The old culverts and drainage structures are being removed to permit the construction of wider culverts and bridges.

Roy West, 53, Polo, Died at Home Mon.

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, Aug. 23.—Roy West, aged 53, passed away at his home, 705 West Mason street, Monday afternoon at 4:45, death resulting from a heart attack. The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. West of Aledo, Ill., and was born in Buda, Ill., June 6, 1885. He was united in marriage to Emma Rinell of Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1908, and they moved to Polo from Bradford three years ago, where he followed his vocation as a tailor and in connection operating a cleaning and pressing establishment. He is survived by his widow and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Martin and Mrs. Rena Gandi, both of Chicago. Mr. West was an active member of the Masonic order and was secretary of the Polo lodge of Odd Fellows. The funeral arrangements had not been completed today and will be announced later.

QUAKES FELT IN EAST

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 23.—(AP)—A series of slight earthquakes rumbled across a large area in central New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania today, rattling windows, doors and dishes, but causing no serious damage.

The first tremor described by Father Joseph Lynch, Fordham University "quake expert," as a "slight surface shock" occurred at 9:45 P. M. (C. S. T.) last night. The last was at 1:04 A. M.

ACROSS STATE LINES

Cincinnati, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The stork crossed state lines to deliver twins to Mrs. George Hurd. Mrs. Hurd gave birth to a son at her home in Lawrenceville, Ind., the second twin arrived after he had been rushed here to a hospital.

AUTOPSIES SHOW 4 PRISONERS DIED BY SUFFOCATION

Pennsylvania Officials Blamed by Coroner For Deaths

Philadelphia, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Autopsies today revealed suffocation caused the deaths of four "hunger-striking" inmates of the Philadelphia county prison.

Coroner Charles H. Hersch, blaming prison officials for the deaths, said he would make microscopic examinations "to determine whether the suffocation was induced by water, vapor, gas or any other cause."

Earlier the coroner said "there is no question but that these men met their death by scalding," he said. "Their hands were shriveled, indicating immersion in hot water or steam."

Warden William B. Mills said he could not contradict the coroner but "can't see how that could have taken place."

Discredited Steam Theory

"We certainly used no steam or hot water on the men," he said, "and there are no steam or hot water pipes in the building in which they were confined."

Meanwhile, at least four investigations got underway and autopsies were scheduled for later today.

Charles I. Engard, state secretary of welfare, sent two special investigators to the institution at Holmesburg with orders to "get to the bottom" of the hunger strike which resulted in the four being placed in punishment cells where their bodies were found yesterday.

They were among more than 600 prisoners who had refused to eat in protest against a "monotonous" diet of hamburger and spaghetti. Discovery of the bodies came after a night during which, Warden William B. Mills said, some 20 convicts in the punishment cells had been fighting among themselves.

Says Deaths Were Violent

Dr. Morton Crane, the coroner's physician, declared the men had died violently.

"I am of the opinion that scalding water somehow got into their cells," he said. "All four exhibited the symptoms of nasal congestion that is typical of death by gas, steam or hot water."

"There were also bruises and abrasions—and by abrasions I mean bruises where the skin is ripped off, and they still showed clots of blood. That would indicate to me that they were beaten before being scalded to death."

Warden Mills began a separate investigation, along with city and county officials.

Judge Harry S. McDevitt of the common pleas court, who had sought to aid in settling the hunger strike, said he was told the prisoners broke steam pipes in their cells to use them for weapons, thus permitting steam to drive into the cells.

The four prisoners occupied adjoining cells. With them were two others, both unarmed. Investigators offered no explanation of how they escaped.

Natural Foes

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Delegates to the National Rural Letter Carriers' Convention described birds today as their natural foes. The reason: mailboxes are favorite nesting places.

But that isn't all the difficulty. Said Tom Mahone of Lechapo, Ala.:

"One of my patrons raised merry Ned about his letters disappearing. He watched and found that bluebirds took them. They tossed letters in the bushes all over the country."

Competition and a "Leaky" Grave Ruin Business of Two Chicagoans

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Competition and a leaky "grave" ruined for the time being at least, the buried-alive business of Oscar Atkins and Lester G. McIntyre.

Both were buried in five-foot "graves" in suburban Proviso. Their manager collected 10 cents a peep from anyone who would pay to see the human moles.

Freak Accident

Channahon, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—William Mathes, 42, a farmer near here, died in St. Joseph's hospital at Joliet today of injuries suffered in a freak accident during an early morning electrical and wind storm.

The wind blew a large tree over on the windmill at Mathes' place. He began chopping at the tree to clear away wreckage, apparently unaware that the windmill had been knocked off its base.

Suddenly the tree shifted, removing what support the windmill still had and it fell on him. A portion of the windmill fan struck his head. Doctors said his skull was fractured in three places.

FRUIT CELLAR DEATH HAS NEW MYSTERY ANGLE

LaCade, Mo., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The fruit cellar death mystery of pretty Mrs. Ella Lamance, 29, was given another baffling angle today when Prosecutor G. Derk Green announced a state chemist's findings of no poison in the internal organs.

Dr. William F. Lamance, the woman's husband, who is held on a charge of murdering her, has contended his wife committed suicide and a private chemist, employed by his attorneys, reported Saturday the discovery of a virulent poison in a portion of viscera.

The body of the former nurse was found in the fruit cellar behind the Lamance home August 16, the night Dr. Lamance reported to officers she was missing. Investigating officers believe the former nurse died several days previously.

"The state chemist reported to me that he examined liver, stomach, intestines and brain for all types of poison and none was found," Prosecutor Green said.

"That means to me a complete refutation of all theories of suicide and strengthens my contention Mrs. Lamance probably died from a blow on the head. That blow caused the blood clot, two inches wide and three inches long, which doctors discovered."

Husband's Extreme Kindness Brought on Discord, Murder

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A husband's "extreme kindness" toward his wife was cited today by a prominent alienist as one cause of the marital discord that led to the slaying of his love rival.

Rudolph Sikora, 31, the husband, was held by police after the death of Edward Solomon, 35, shot on a north side street corner yesterday.

At police headquarters, Sikora said his wife, Margaret, 22, was "the perfect girl, the best wife a man could have."

In turn Mrs. Sikora called him "a perfect husband" and "a model man" but one unable to make her happy.

To Dr. Harry R. Hoffman of the Cook county behavior clinic she offered her explanation for the paradox.

"Because he was a person so easy to get along with," she explained, "I felt he was more like a brother than a husband... I rebelled against his extreme kindness."

Giant Flying Boat Ready for Testing

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 23.—(AP)—A giant flying boat, estimated capable of a 5,000-mile flight to patrol or bomb, was ready for tests today by the United States Navy after manufacturers had flown the $1,000,000 craft to their own satisfaction.

Rigid inspection and test flights for the next week lay ahead of the four-motored "air dreadnaught" before the navy accepts it as perhaps the most powerful unit of the naval air force.

Says WPA Officials Caused His Defeat

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Senator Berry (D-Tenn) wrote the senate campaign expenditures committee today that two WPA officials in Tennessee "were in fact, but not in name, the campaign directors of the coalition ticket" which defeated him in Tennessee's August 4 Democratic primary.

Berry reported "it has been said" that these officials, who he did not name, raised a campaign fund of $125,000 by assessments and collections from WPA personnel and relief workers, and that "this can be sustained" by questioning officials of the state WPA administration "under oath."

RACKET MANAGER TELLS OF HINES' PROMISE OF AID

Says Tammany Leader Was Paid $500 a Week For Protection

BULLETIN

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—George Weinberg, 36, once business manager for the multi-million dollar Dutch Schultz policy racket, testified in Supreme Court today that City Magistrate Hulon Capshaw agreed to "fix" policy raid arrests for Tammany District Leader James J. Hines.

Crowning his previous sensational testimony of having personally paid Hines "$500 a week in cash, and sometimes higher," Weinberg said he was present at a meeting when Magistrate Capshaw agreed to "take care" of a policy case for Hines.

Hines is on trial charged with conspiracy in connection with his alleged "fixing" activities.

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—George Weinberg, 36, ex-con and once business manager of the multi-million-dollar Dutch Schultz "policy empire," testified in Supreme Court today that Tammany District Leader James J. Hines promised "protection" from police raids on Harlem policy banks.

"I paid Jimmy Hines $500 a week and higher for protection," Weinberg said.

The witness testified that during one of his frequent "pay off" meetings with the politician, he talked to Hines about

News of Interest to Community Farmers

Telegraph to Sponsor Demonstration Day on Nearby Farm August 31

Program to Be Under Direction of Noted
"Alfalfa Hutch"

"Alfalfa Hutch"

Wednesday, August 31, will be a day of Farm Power and Farm and Home equipment for farmers and land owners and everybody interested in agriculture in this section of Illinois. The Dixon Telegraph is sponsoring the Day and Demonstrations for the entire section of the state. The newest types of tractors, plows, tillage tools, harvesting machinery, farm implements needed for fall work and farm and home equipment will be in action on a farm under condition like other farms.

The demonstration will be held on the Dan Utz farm east of Dixon on route 330. The Dixon Telegraph is inviting all farm implement, seeds, feed, fertilizers, seed corn home equipment, firms and merchants in this territory to join in on this big day. Monday a special section will be printed telling what and who will be there inviting all farmers to the interesting demonstration.

Several speakers will be on the program, including "Farmer" Rusk and a number of hybrid seed corn breeders. Watch for announcements from day to day.

"Alfalfa Hutch" on Job.

This entire program will be under the personal direction of Charles R. "Alfalfa Hutch" Hutcheson, who has driven more than a million miles working with farmers to find out how to overcome hundreds of farming problems. He got the nickname, "Alfalfa Hutch," because he saw what this great crop will do for a farm and its owner and operator if it is grown properly. However, he is not a "nut" on the subject of alfalfa because he is interested in all farm and farm home problems. Therefore the demonstration to be held on the Spencer farm will include red clover, soy beans, hybrid corn and soil fertility problems and there will be leaders in all these farm problems there to aid Hutch.

Mr. Hutcheson was the manager and editor of the first and only corn magazine ever published away back in 1912. He now is editor and publisher of Modern Agriculture, St. Charles, Ill. He is active in helping carry on practical field demonstrations on Col. Edward J. Baker's farm near St. Charles, Ill. Many of you will remember that Colonel Baker is the owner and developer of the great trotter Greyhound and also owner of fine herds of pure bred cattle, sheep, Belgian and Percheron horses.

"Seeing Is Believing."

Yes, a week from Wednesday—August 31st—there will be one of the greatest acting farm demonstrations ever held in this section of the corn belt. There will be more farm machinery and farm equipment than you ever saw in operation—doing more different things—it isn't to be a show, it is to be a demonstration—"Seeing is believing."

So, corn, clover and soy beans will come in for their part with alfalfa at this demonstration. Several of the leading hybrid seed corn and fertilizer firms will be represented. The leading tire firms will show the many advantages of rubberizing your farm equipment.

Hot Weather Care Of Eggs Makes for Highest Quality

Eggs with watery whites are one of the chief problems of Illinois producers of high quality eggs, says H. H. Alp, poultry extension specialist, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Since hot dry weather is one of the environmental factors causing egg white deterioration, it is advisable to collect the eggs from the nests at least three times a day, he explained. Successful producers of high quality eggs allow the eggs to cool before they are placed in cases or cartons.

Temperature of the room in which eggs are held prior to their sale is also of importance, with the most desirable range being from 50 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Slightly higher temperatures for a short time are not serious, especially if the room humidity is fairly high.

Many egg rooms could stand some excess moisture which might be supplied by hanging wet burlap on the walls or by sprinkling the floor with water. Good ventilation will help prevent the formation of molds in the room with such high humidity.

LEE COUNTY DAY IS PLANNED FOR FRIDAY AT FAIR

Full Program of Events
Arranged for Night
And Afternoon

Friday, Aug. 26, is to be set aside as Lee County Day at the Lee County Fair and Horse Show which is to be held this week at the Dixon Airport. A full program has been planned for afternoon and evening and as a special inducement, the entrance fee has been set for fifty cents per passenger car load.

The afternoon program will begin at 2 o'clock with a parade of livestock. There will be a number of exhibitions in the arena as well as games on horseback. Attractive prize money will be offered for a class for Lee county horses and riders. The large draft horses will be exhibited hitched to a wagon.

Ken Davis, Australian gymnast of the sky, will give a performance 100 feet above the crowd without the use of a net. This spectacular and dangerous event will thrill every spectator who sees it. It is rated as one of the best acts in the country.

Girls' Drum and Bugle Corps.
The American Legion Girls' Drum and Bugle corps will present a drill team during the afternoon program.

All boys and girls in the county owning ponies or horses are urged to bring them on Friday afternoon for the numerous games which have been planned. Attractive prizes will be awarded to the winners. No entry fee or admission will be charged to those competing in the afternoon events.

Fair officials hope there will be a large attendance for this special Lee County Day and visitors are invited to remain for the evening horse show.

Wheat Allotments Issued to County Farmers for 1939

According to Dale R. Rosenkrans, president of the Lee County Agricultural Conservation association, Lee county farmers have received their wheat acreage allotments for 1939. The county allotment was 5509 acres. This was divided among the individual farms in the county according to the number of acres each farm had grown during the years 1936 to 1938 and according to the productivity of each farm. For the regular wheat farms the allotments were very liberal. Where a farm grew wheat only one year of the three years it was necessary to take the three years average and some allotments were small. A number of new wheat farms were given allotments for 1939. Three percent of the county allotment was set aside for these new farms. The law provides that only three percent can be divided between farms which have not previously grown wheat. These farms received allotments based on crop land in the farm.

The United States Crop Report indicates 1938 wheat crop of 967 million bushels. This is about 285 million bushels in excess of the ten year average domestic disappearance. The July 1 carry-over was estimated at 180 million bushels, with prospects for export less favorable in 1938-39 than the crop year just ended. The carry over into July, 1939, might exceed the record carry over of 378 million bushels on July 1, 1933.

CONTEST WINNER
Ogle County Superintendent of Highways Alex Anderson who lives at Woonung was awarded third in Class A in Governor Henry Horner's Farm Floral contest. Mrs. Anderson has had charge of most of the planting and planning. Awards were made at the state fair on Thursday.

MARKETS POLAND CHINAS
George Henrich of Lee county marketed a shipment of Poland China sows from his farm near West Brooklyn and the Chicago stock yards last week. The drove consisted of 18 heavy butcher sows averaging 361 pounds that sold, without sorting, at $6.65 per cwt., one of the good sales of the day for this class.

FIRST IN DISTRICT
Lee county exhibitors of Brown Swiss in the Junior Fair at Springfield this year won first place in their district competition. Livestock is shown in district competition and only first place winners are shown for state championships. For the past six consecutive years Lee county Holsteins have won the state championship but this year's group did not win first in the district contest and thus did not show for the state title.

State Fair Winners

Ralph Fulton (left in the picture) won first for a pen of three purebred Southdown lambs at the state fair this past week. Ralph is a member of L. V. Slothower's agricultural class at Ashton high school and possesses a state farmer degree. The picture above was taken at the Amboy 4-H club show recently and shown with young Fulton are his father, Elmer Fulton, (right) and Merle Butler (center). Ralph won 48 dollars with sixth in flock in open class restricted to state breeders, third on ram lamb, third on pen of four lambs, fourth on aged ewe (center in picture), fourth on aged ram (left in picture), third in Illinois class for ram lamb (right in picture), fifth in ewe lamb class, fourth in yearling ewe club class, and fifth and sixth in ewe lamb club class. Other Ashton winners at the state fair were Burnell Henert who received fourth for junior Holstein heifer, twelfth in a competition of 52 in the senior Holstein heifer class. He received a total of $21. Donald Schafer took second in the class for senior heifer with 44 competing. The Lee County Guernsey group was second in the club class of county groups in which five calves are entered by three boys. Donald Schafer was one of those in the winning group.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Only healthy chickens can be profitable.

Everyone who has ever raised chickens has found that out—usually from a costly experience.

It is difficult to determine how much poultry raisers lose each year as a result of disease, but there is no doubt that the amount is staggering. When you lose half your baby chicks when your growing birds become droopy and don't gain as they should, when one after another of your heaviest hens drops off the roosts, you know you're losing money.

But so far comparatively little has been done to stop this loss.

Hog raisers who used to live in constant fear of cholera and cattle raisers who used to dread tuberculosis know how much can be accomplished by a program of sanitation and disease control. They have followed these programs because they could see their cash value.

Poultry Deserves Attention
A single chicken is worth a dollar or less, while a hog may be worth $20 and a steer, $100. That may explain why people have showed so much more interest in the health of their other livestock than in the health of their poultry.

A person will call a veterinarian immediately if he suspects anything is wrong with his hogs or his cattle. But few ever think of calling a veterinarian for chickens.

If chickens look sick, the most the average person does is to buy something in a bottle which is usually guaranteed to cure a chicken of whatever is wrong with it. Such remedies are seldom effective, the disease keeps on spreading, and in a short time it would take several hogs to equal the value of the chickens that have died.

Follow Sanitation Program
A plan of sanitation and disease control similar to those for other types of livestock has long been needed for poultry. It is finally being started by the Institute of the American Poultry Industries working with committees in fifteen middle western states.

Meetings were held in eight Iowa counties during July and poultry committees appointed in each county to arrange poultry clinics early this fall and to start several hundred farm and 4-H club projects to demonstrate the financial value of following a plan of sanitation and disease control. They are asking the co-operation of Farm Bureau women's groups, night school classes in vocational agriculture, hatcherymen, poultry buyers, local and state and Federal veterinarians, and farm and business organizations.

Work has also been started in Kansas and will soon be under way in Michigan, South Dakota, Nebraska, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Missouri, and Ohio. You will undoubtedly hear more about it this fall.

I only want to suggest that when you are given an opportunity to participate in this program, I am sure it will be worth your while—from a dollars' and cents' point of view—to do so!

Sincerely yours,

Frank Priebe

BRITISH BEDTIME BAFFLES BROADCASTERS

London.—(AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation, semi-government radio monopoly, would like to have people make up their minds about going to bed.

The BBC broadcast late news at 9 P. M. during the winter, but when summer came, with sunset around 9:30 o'clock, the news was changed to 10 P. M.

The protest was instant, and George Bernard Shaw led the attack on the new "late hour." So the BBC changed to 9:40 P. M. with a promise to get back to 9 o'clock this winter.

Continued Dryness Weakens Prospects For Illinois Corn

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Continued dryness over most of the state "weakened somewhat" the prospects for the Illinois corn crop during the past week, the state and federal agricultural departments jointly reported. Temperatures averaged considerably above normal, increasing damage from deficient soil moisture.

"A good deal of the early corn in the southern half of the state is beyond serious drought damage, maturity being near enough to be achieved without additional moisture," said the crop review.

"Almost 70 per cent of the corn in the state is in or past the roasting-ear stage. The later plantings, however, are already suffering from dryness and will probably yield very disappointingly. The most serious reduction in yield prospects during the past week occurred in central and western Illinois, where ears are not up to usual size and are not filling clear to the tip, and much firing is going on.

"Grasshoppers are present in large numbers throughout western and southwestern Illinois, and may do considerable damage, particularly to the later corn. Cinch bugs are at work in some southwestern localities and are adding to drought damage."

Soybean prospects were again reported as "still excellent."

Sawflies Prevalent.

Cooling moth—About normal in abundance.

Bagworm—In southern half of state. No specimens nor reports of injury received from central or north-central Illinois since the winter of 1935-36.

Walnut caterpillar—First brood very abundant x x x have been taken in larger numbers than for five years during which record have been kept.

A sawfly—Reported as having ruined a lot of honeysuckle shrubbery in northwestern Illinois.

Amboy YOUTHS
AMONG WINNERS
AT STATE FAIR

Amboy Township high school, vocational agriculture students made a successful showing of their livestock at the state fair this past week. Their winnings amounted to $59. O. C. Hold, cash instructor at the high school, attended the contest with the boys.

Holsteins: Robert Degner, 14th, $5.00 and 19th, $4.00; Arthur Bulfer, 24th, $4.00. The Lee County group placed second and was awarded $20.00. Of this, Amboy's share was $12. The county group is always made up of five animals exhibited by three or more boys of the same county.

Guernseys: Walter Fassler, 6th, $6.00; John Bothe, 6th, $6.00; Robert Meyers, 18th, $4.00; Ralph Meyers, 20th, $4.00. County group, 2nd—Amboy's share $12.

Brown Swis: James Malach, 12th heifer calf, $4.00 and 6th yearling heifer, $4.00. County group first—Amboy's share $6.00.

Robert Reuter and Glenn Miller attended the State Fair School for Boys.

NEW QUEER BUG APPEARS IN N. E. PART ILLINOIS

"S. Platani Nicolet" is Reported; Analysis of Other Pests

Washington, Aug. 20.—(AP)—There's a mighty queer bug in northeastern Illinois.

He doesn't do like most of his fellows among the insect pests—feast on growing crops.

Nor does he follow the example of others—mosquitoes for example—and snatch little nibbles from the epidermis of humans.

Instead he goes to work on old newspapers.

Occasionally he picks a different type of reading—or food—nibbling on magazines.

The bureau of entomology isn't exactly sure just what this fellow should be called.

Tentatively it has identified him as "a spring tail." But there are several types of spring tails.

"S. Platani Nicolet."

Maybe—just maybe, says the bureau—his family name should be "S. Platani Nicolet."

Specimens, said the bureau in a report on Illinois insect pests, "were swarming over windows and into a room where old papers and magazines were stored."

The bureau's report added that grasshoppers apparently were defeated in Illinois. They've "decreased greatly" the bureau said, because of frequent and heavy rains. "Present indications are that very little damage will occur in Illinois."

Other reports on Illinois bugs included:

Armworms—enemies of wheat and grain crops, "making their appearance in moderate numbers in the northern quarter."

Corn leaf aphid—Occurring in outbreak numbers in a large field of corn near Reynoldsville, Union county, southern Illinois, destroying tassels, foliage, and stalks to an extent indicating a probable loss of 33 to 40 per cent of the crop.

Sawflies Prevalent.

Cooling moth—About normal in abundance.

Bagworm—In southern half of state. No specimens nor reports of injury received from central or north-central Illinois since the winter of 1935-36.

Walnut caterpillar—First brood very abundant x x x have been taken in larger numbers than for five years during which record have been kept.

A sawfly—Reported as having ruined a lot of honeysuckle shrubbery in northwestern Illinois.

Miss Kerchner and Dover Grade School Principal are Wed

Majesty of salmon gladioli in the radiant glow of white cathedral tapers before the altar of the Congregational church in Dover formed the background for a pretty wedding of Sunday afternoon, when Miss Shirley Kerchner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kerchner of Walnut, pledged marriage vows with Ned Cater, principal of the Dover grade school. The Rev. Kenneth Sein read the service at 4 o'clock.

As the large company of guests assembled, they heard an organ recital by Mrs. Helen Wheeler. Eldon Plumley of Manlius sang three solos, "I Love You Truly," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "Sweet T. K. E. fraternity song," and the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length princess gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin. A coronet of seed pearls held her veil in place, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, tied with pale blue streamers. The bridegroom's fraternity pin was her only ornament.

Miss Phyllis Kerchner was her sister's maid of honor and Mr. Cater's sister, Mrs. Margaret Nelson, served as matron of honor. They were groomed alike in aqua lace over yellow satin, with yellow accessories. Each carried Johanna Hill roses.

Edward Campbell of Princeton was best man, and Leo Faulkner of Greenfield served as groomsmen. Ushers were Henry Cater of Princeton, Clarence Nelson of Roxana, Eldon Corbin of Eureka, and Harris Miller of Dover.

A reception was held in the church parlors for 115 guests. A large wedding cake, with white wedding bells and streamers decorated the bride's table for the wedding supper. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Cater left on a wedding trip to the Great Smoky mountains.

Mrs. Cater was graduated from Walnut high school in 1936, and took a post-graduate course the following year. She formerly was employed in the office of Evan Gilchrist.

The bridegroom, a son of Mrs. Florence Cater of Dover, was graduated from Princeton high school in 1933. He later attended Eureka college and State Normal college.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Julia Shaw, William Hiatt, L. Nutting and daughter Carol of Glen Ellyn, the Rev. Raymond Shaw of Milledgeville, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Kerchner and family, Mrs. Alfred Peterson and daughter of Streator, Watson Allshouse, Mrs. Jennie Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Howard and Mrs. Darlene Bellau of Sterling, Mrs. Edward Evelock of Springfield, James Cater and family of Mendota and Mrs. O. E. Corbin and daughter of Eureka.

"JOLIE RENDEZVOUS" ATTRACTS 1,000 GUESTS
A thousand guests attended the "Jolie rendezvous" for the state American Legion auxiliary last evening in Rockford. The Rockford armory was transformed into a Parisian sidewalk cafe for the affair.

The Quincy drum and bugle corps of Sons of the Legion marched down a broad avenue in the center of the door to greet Mrs. George Heckenkamp, who was scheduled to be elected department president of the auxiliary today. Introduced by the retiring president, Mrs. A. A. Pantelis, of Highland Park, Mrs. Heckenkamp and others spoke briefly in an interlude during the program of song and dance.

Mrs. Heckenkamp told the guests that while she was the state auxiliary's membership chairman, a record high enrollment of 35,000 was reached in the state. Among those seated at the speakers' table were Mrs. Melville Muckelstone of Chicago, past national auxiliary president; James R. Sullivan, general chairman for the Legion convention; Mrs. Fenton Sholday, of Wood River; Gene Early of Chicago, who is to be elected chef du gare of the 40 and 8; Mrs. L. Allen of Belleville; Edward Clamage, first vice commander of the Illinois Legion, who is scheduled to be elected state Legion commander; Mrs. Clamage; Mrs. William Schlupp of Chicago, department treasurer; Mrs. Mildred Knoles, department secretary; Mr. Pantelis; Mrs. Applequist; and William C. Mundt, department adjutant.

The auxiliary convention was to close this afternoon with presentation and installation of department officers for 1939, and reading of the call for the national convention.

DINNER GUESTS
Mr. and Mrs. George W. Heathery of 718 First street were entertaining at Sunday dinner, their guests including Dr. and Mrs. James M. Miley, newcomers to the city from Rockford, Miss Adelaide Carter of Aurora, and Noble Norberg.

Junior Auxillary Drill Team

Members of the Junior Auxiliary drill team of American Legion post No. 12, Dixon, who presented exhibition drills during the parade at the state convention of the American Legion post and auxiliary yesterday afternoon at Rockford. The team, composed of girls ranging in age from 10 to 16, have been doing intensive work since last October when it was organized through the efforts of Mrs. Emma Phalen and Mrs. Louise Enichen, president and past president respectively of the Dixon auxiliary. Drillmaster Jack Kennaugh has been assisting in training the unit by Sgt. Charles Ramsey, drillmaster of Company A, 129th infantry, Dixon. Members of the team participating in the convention parade yesterday follow: Front row, left to right, Mrs. Louise Enichen, chaperone; Marguerite Rosbrook, Fern Durham, Betty Kennedy, Winnie Ann Loftus, Audrey Knack, Charles Enichen, Jane Phalen, Lois Fitzsimmons, Jean Phalen, Betty Bennett, and Drillmaster Kennaugh; back row, Sue Bryant, Frances Gorham, Mary Arnold, Emily Herrington, Phyllis Hamill, Doris Dowling, Theresa Jordan, Dorothy Gorham, Mary Lou Kelly, and Eileen Herrington. The team appeared earlier in the summer at district conventions in Rochelle and Oregon, and has also been asked to present exhibition drills at the Dixon Municipal airport, during the coming week-end as a special feature of the annual Lee County Fair and Horse Show.

One-Hundred Couples Turn Out for Dixon Country Club Dance

Gayety at the Dixon Country club reached a peak last evening when the members and their friends danced in the breeze-swept rooms at the last summer dance of the season. With Al Sky's 11-piece band from Galesburg providing lilting tunes from 9:30 o'clock on, the party brought a brilliant climax to the gay summer series which has proved immensely popular with the club crowd.

One-hundred couples, all in informal sport attire, turned out for the affair, made still more interesting by the Monte Carlo atmosphere created by the committee. The music was particularly satisfying, with the orchestra members obligingly responsive to requests for big apple and Suzy-Q tunes. Colored flood lights were effective as a decorative note.

Smooth-running plans of Mrs. Charles H. LeSage and her committee members were responsible for the success of the affair. Assisting Mrs. LeSage were Mrs. George Beier and Mrs. W. A. McNichols.

HOLD JOINT PICNIC

Nearly 75 guests attended the joint picnic which members of the Nelson Community club and Nelson Home Bureau unit held yesterday at Lawrence park, Sterling. Swimming and a ball game between the married and single men were included on the afternoon program.

The next meeting of the Community club has been announced for Sept. 26 at the Cook school. Mrs. John Moeller will be hostess to the Home Bureau unit, Sept. 6.

PROGRESSIVE CLASS HAS PICNIC

Members of the Progressive class of the First Christian Sunday school were invited to the country home of Ivan Floto, east of Dixon Sunday, for their monthly meeting and a picnic dinner. Nearly 30 guests were present.

ATTEND BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Deets of this city were among those honoring Charles Livingston of Sterling on the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary. Sunday. Twenty relatives attended the anniversary dinner.

Arizona Guest is Party Incentive

Mrs. Howard M. Edwards of 822 Chula Vista was making her houseguest, Mrs. Leon Countryman of Tucson, Ariz. her guest of honor today when she entertained 16 Amboy, Lee, and Hinckley friends at luncheon and bridge. Pink roses from the Edwards garden trimmed the quartet tables for luncheon, cleared later for contract.

Mrs. Countryman, who formerly resided in Rochelle, will remain in Dixon as the guest of Mrs. Edwards for a few days.

PAST MATRONS HAVE BREAKFAST PARTY

Mrs. George Beier and Mrs. Adolph Eichler were presiding at a breakfast table seating 14, yesterday morning at the Dixon Country club. Their guests were past matrons of Dorothy chapter, O. E. S.

Contract hands were shuffled and cut, following the breakfast. Mrs. Grover Hoberg and Mrs. O. L. Gearhart were fortunate in the games.

HUGGINS-TRUMP-STONE PICNIC

In Lawrence park at Sterling, Sunday, for their fourth annual picnic were Mr. and Mrs. William Huggins of Ashton, Mrs. Ellen Peterson and son Orrin of Dixon, the Misses Clara and Helen Alcorn of Amboy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trump of Polo, and Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Stone and son Harold of Sterling.

She will also visit relatives in Lee Center, Amboy, and Ashton, before joining a friend in Indiana to motor back to California. Miss Ross and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ross, formerly resided in Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Jacobson and son Bobby attended the American Legion convention Sunday at Rockford. Bobby appeared with the drum corps.

Miss Gladys and Paul Marth are spending the week in Milwaukee, Wis., with their cousins, Mrs. A. E. Marth and daughter Mary. They are visiting relatives in Savannah, where Mr. Marth joined them Sunday to attend a family reunion at the Fulrath home.

Mrs. Gracia Welch and Miss Amy Siekels will visit Mrs. Roy Ide in Springfield this week.

Earl Slagle, Jr., left Saturday for a two weeks' vacation with relatives in Beardstown, Havana and Canton.

Mrs. Grant Lievan returned on Sunday evening from a week's visit in Chicago with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Smice.

Joseph Villiger, Jr., returned

Monday to his work, following a two weeks' vacation, part of which he spent in Chicago.

The Rev. L. E. Conner, pastor of the Church of God, has been spending some time in Fredricktown, Mo., assisting with a ten-day state conference.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rowland and son Jeffrey of Iowa City, Ia., have been visiting at the home of Mr. Rowland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rowland, 206 Dement avenue, since Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cadesman Pope and son, Cadesman, Jr., who have been visiting Mrs. Pope's father, E. A. Patrick, 317 Peoria ave., and her sisters, for ten days, left yesterday for their home in Augusta, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pollock and family spent Sunday visiting with relatives in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roundy are enjoying a vacation outing in northern Michigan.

WHAT FOREIGN POLICY?

As result of a new speech and a few statements by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and President Roosevelt it may be time for the individual to examine our foreign policy whether he feels interested or not, for foreign policy affects us all. It affects us in the pocketbook because it has to do with international trade. It has much to do with the eventualities of peace or war, and our common people reap the benefits of peace and bear the burdens of war.

Of all the chief countries in the world the United States comes nearest to having no foreign policy at all. We are not crowded by ambitious powers so that we have to play one against the other. We do not as yet have to determine whether to support this or that nation or territory in case of war, President Roosevelt's Canadian speech to the contrary notwithstanding.

Generally when we think of foreign policy we immediately call to mind the Monroe doctrine, which was designed to protect the weaker new republics of Latin America, which would have been preyed upon by European powers. As to those colonies and dependencies of European countries already existing at the time the doctrine was enunciated, President Monroe said we should not interfere with them. The protection of Latin American republics was not without self-interest because it has helped to prevent pressure by such nations as France, which wanted to come into possession of Mexico.

Regardless of President Roosevelt's presumably new good neighbor policy, we always have been desirous of maintaining good relations with nations below the Rio Grande and the Gulf of Mexico. We are now embroiled with Mexico in an argument over seizure of American-owned properties, an argument that might not have taken place had not President Cardenas of Mexico believed he could find something in the speeches of Franklin D. Roosevelt to support his actions.

As to keeping out of war, President Wilson ran on that platform in 1916, and we were into war in 1917 regardless of being, as Wilson implied, too proud to fight. We were to have been committed to the league of nations by Wilson, and were kept out of it, to our everlasting credit, by a "little group of wifely men" who went against popular sentiment and the administration.

We made a neutrality statute to fit the Italo-Ethiopian war and had to remodel our views to make it fit the Spanish civil war. Now the neutrality experts are working on the statute again to make it fit the Sino-Japanese war, which the administration has been compelled for practical reasons to ignore.

Much of the remainder of our foreign policy has been directed to giving advice abroad and threatening the aggressor nations, a policy which makes us no practical friends and creates enmity. The Kellogg-Briand pact, outlawing war, had no meaning and is now regarded as a joke.

CLASSES AND MASSES

Communist literature calls continuously for the day of the "class struggle," whatever that means. Reading between the lines one gets the idea of civil strife, violence and lawlessness, which no responsible person can contemplate without horror, remembering what is taking place in Spain.

The class and mass idea was imported from another part of the world, and has been brought forward from the dim past along with the rest of the Marxian philosophy. It has no place in a republic where every man has a ballot. It has no place where members of the alleged leisure class may be at leisure one day, and leaning on a shovel the next. It has no place in a country where a boy born of ignorant parents in a log cabin can become president; where a small bicycle store operator may become one of the world's wealthiest men. In short it has no place in a republic constitutionally designed so that every man may take advantage of the brains he was born with and the ability or talent he can develop.

This is no land where a leisure class is constituted by tradition so that it lives off of taxation and hands its prerogatives and its livings down generation after generation. It is not a country where a ruling class inherits its job regardless of its ability to rule. We have traveled a long distance politically since the time some of our ancestors were subjects of congenial idiots simply because the crown happened to rest with a certain lineage. Our constitution did away with the idea that a nation must be ruled by a member of a certain family that has so-called blue blood. This is neither the time nor the place where the masses, meaning the majority, are saddled and bridled simply for the sake of making a soft living for a line of Bourbons or Hapsburgs.

The injustice of the communist teaching is that it has been taken from its original setting and transported to a place where it has no application except to saddle thrift and industry for the benefit of those who have not yet attained their goals, who may easily become the tools of agitators who seek soft jobs.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ON SECURITY

In connection with the third anniversary of the social security act Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the president, was asked to explain why the government is not tricky in spending funds collected for social security and replacing them with notes.

Mrs. Roosevelt's answer:

"If you believe in the solvency of your country and the Washington—This is a story the President tells about one fish that got away and one that didn't on his recent Pacific cruise.

Angling from a launch with a light rod, the President suddenly found himself surrounded by a school of sailfish. In a moment he had a giant sailfish on his line. A slashing battle ensued, with the huge fish hurtling itself high into the air time after time.

So strenuous were its efforts that the President was unable to keep a taut line, with the result that one of the fish's leaps developed a big loop in the line.

At that moment another giant sailfish zoomed out of the water and was lassoed by the loop as the hooked fish crashed back into the water. The furious thrashing of the hooked fish tightened the loop, caught under the other fish's dorsal fin, and the President found himself with two raging giants on his line.

Roosevelt had no chance to think what he should do, for almost simultaneously the two fish again hurled themselves high into the air. The strain on the line was too much and the hooked fish broke away, leaving the lassoed fish still firmly lassoed.

For twenty minutes it struggled. Finally Roosevelt brought it close enough to be gaffed and dragged into the boat. It was over six feet long.

Chief Boatwain's Mate William A. Bartos, who was with the President, swears the story is true and exhibits as proof the mounted head of the big sailfish.

NOTE—The President won the pool for the largest catch of the cruise with a 320-pound shark. Runner-up was White House Secretary Steve Early with a 200-pound man eater.

PWA Paradox

While the President was preaching a higher wage level in Georgia, his PWA people in the same area were chiseling down wages.

These projects are supposed to follow the prevailing wage scale in the localities where constructed, but Howard T. Cole, PWA administrator for nine Southern states, has been consistently cutting under the prevailing wage rates.

This has been opposed by PWA labor adviser George Heldman, who has supported the labor union demands. Result has been a row between Cole and Heldman in which the labor champion may lose his job, all because he favors

Brain Twizzlers By PROF. J. D. FLINT

Maybe the next best thing to owning a big estate with a small lake on it is being watchman for it. Anyway, such a watchman had a funny experience one night. He caught a burglar in the act of escaping from the house with some valuables. Straight for the lake the burglar headed. He stood on the opposite side as the watchman came to the edge of the lake, perhaps we'd better say pond. They were directly opposite each other as they started their mad race around and around. The watchman could make a complete circuit in thirty seconds, the burglar in forty. How many trips did it take to catch the burglar? Careful, now.

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler.

ability of the people to pay the debts which the country incurs, then those government notes are as good security for the future as you can have."

All that is in the present tense. Many who believe the country is now solvent, and that it could get out from under the present load of debt, may still have questions about the future and the precedent being established. The credit of a government is somewhat like the credit of an individual. It is hard to find an individual who is rated as a good credit risk if he perpetually spends more than his income, borrows to make up the deficit, and appears to see no way out of the difficulty.

the Roosevelt higher wage policy for the South.

Double-Barreled Jolt

Only those in the know caught its significance, but the two-line White House announcement of a new U. S. Marshal for Montana was the smoothest double-barreled load of brickbats ever heaved by Franklin Roosevelt.

One was a sock square on the wagging jaw of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, and the other was a lousy boot in the pants of Big Jim Farley.

For in naming W. W. Crawford as U. S. Marshal, Roosevelt served notice on Wheeler for the second time this month that Senator Murray now is the White House spokesman in Montana. The first notice was the appointment of Miles Romney, militant young New Dealer, as State Director of National Emergency Council.

Wheeler's irate letters about this move were still pouring into Washington when the President flattened him again by ousting a Wheeler appointee as U. S. Marshal and putting Murray's man in the post.

Jim Farley came in on the love-lap because of his extraordinary fraternizing with Wheeler while en route from Alaska.

Prior to this, Burt and Jim were two of the bitterest foes in Washington. For years, neither had made a secret of his intense dislike of the other. When the late Huey Long was shaking the rafters of the Senate with demands for an investigation of Farley, Wheeler was the Kingfish's staunchest ally.

Despite this public and private feuding, who should meet Jim when he detrained at Banff, Canada? None other than Burt and Mrs. Wheeler—who on occasion has been more acrid in her remarks about Farley than her husband.

Wheeler Hospitality.

In the last few years Mrs. Wheeler has had two pet hates, the Roosevelts and Farley. Yet, with Burt, she entertained Jim, plus his two daughters and a Post Office Department Aide, at a swanky hotel in Banff, later at the Wheeler summer home in Glacier National park.

Montana couldn't believe its eyes—and neither could Senator Murray and Representative Jerry O'Connell, who a few weeks earlier had licked a candidate whom Wheeler had run against him.

Just before Farley and Wheeler went into their secret huddle—in which Wheeler complained bitterly at the appointment of Romney and Farley assured him he had nothing to do with it—Farley told local newsmen he was stopping off in Montana "to contact with Democratic leaders."

When Murray and O'Connell read this statement in the newspapers it was the first they knew of Farley's presence. Jim's idea of "Democratic leaders" apparently did not cover the two Roosevelt standard-bearers. They were not invited to the conference.

O'Connell refused to be rebuffed. He hopped a plane for Banff and went to see Farley. Jim kept him waiting a while. Finally, greeted him with a sharp lecture for attacking Wheeler, the President's most effective Senate foe. "What's the idea?" Farley demanded. "What are you trying to do, split the party? Why don't you cut out this purging stuff? That's out."

Senator Murray made no effort to see Farley. He took a train to Washington. The day after he arrived, the announcement of a new U. S. Marshal for Montana was quietly handed White House reporters on a little typewritten slip of paper.

Note—Neither Farley nor Wheeler will say what they discussed during their four-day hobnobbing, but friends of both claim the talk was about 1940 and that the two men laid the groundwork for the anti-Roosevelt alliance.

Merry-Go-Round.

So modestly has he behaved that few people know he have a Rockefeller in Congress. He has been in the House since last November. The name: Lewis K. Rockefeller of Chatham, N. Y., no immediate relation to the John D.'s. . . . Most biographies of Cabinet members disclose their marital status. But neither in the Congressional Directory nor in Who's Who does Claude A. Swanson mention the fact that there is a Mrs. Swanson.

HARMON

By Margaret Anderson.

A number of relatives enjoyed a fried chicken dinner on Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Anderson in honor of the birthday anniversaries of the latter's niece, Miss Lorraine Egler of Rockford, and her nephew Herby McDonnell of Sterling, whose birthdays are both on Aug. 21. The table was very pretty, having two cakes with lighted candles and a bouquet of garden flowers as the centerpiece. Each honored guest received many gifts with the best wishes for many more happy birthdays.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Orville Egler, daughters Lorraine, Juliann and Margie Kay and sons Bob and Bill and Miss Virginia O'Shea of Rockford; Mrs. Rebecca Garland of Dixon; Mrs. Martin McDermott and Mr. and Mrs. John McDonnell, daughter LaVonne and sons Herby, John, Joe and Pat of Sterling. Callers in the afternoon were Francis Fitzsimmons of Aurora and Mrs. Roy Anderson and daughter Faye Ellen of Maytown.

Thrashing in this vicinity is about completed after being delayed by rains. The reports received by farmers show a great variety of yields and in most cases disappointing, a few reporting yields of 50 bushels or over and some as low as 25 bushels. The average yield is probably from 30 to 40 bushels. This is much less than expected as farmers got their oats in early and had the ground in excellent shape and there was not much extremely hot weather. Most of the farmers attribute the low yield to too much rain during the last of May and during the month of June. The wheat reports are about the same as a few farmers had fairly good yields, while others were hardly worth harvesting. The average yield reported is much below the yearly average.

The condition of corn reports vary also, many that got their corn in early on well drained fields report their corn prospects as good as they ever had. There is some corn planted along about the first of June that does not look good and it will take considerable hot weather the last of this month and the first of September to make anything like good corn. Also, on account of a couple of big rains the low spots or ponds have been hurt so badly that they do not expect much of any from such places. The late planting and corn hurt by excessive rains may reach around 20 per cent of the acreage planted.

The soybeans are reported to be good and there is a large acreage of beans for this vicinity, some of which will be harvested for seed. A large amount will be put up for hay for owners to earn payments who signed up with the farm program. There is an abundance of hay and pastures and new seeding sowed last spring has made an excellent growth.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Merkeel and children motored to Amboy last week and visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey.

Eddie Kent returned home Sunday from a few days visit in Maytown with his aunt, Mrs. Roy Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mannion are entertaining their grandchildren from Lostant in their home for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Goble Wadsworth are on a vacation trip. They will visit relatives and friends in Peoria and in the state of Missouri. Emmet Drew and son Robert have gone to Wisconsin to visit for a few days with his parents and other relatives.

Misses Gladys and Avis McGrath of Tampico and Miss Mabel Hermes were over Thursday night guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harney in Walnut.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Keenan and son John were in Dixon on Saturday afternoon.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with

Albert Edward Wiggam, S. S. Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea," (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. I hardly think so. I feel sure that where the rules are really based on science they will greatly aid people in making those friendships that may lead to love and romance. I know personally most of the sociologists and psychologists who are analyzing romantic love, mate selection and marriage. They are about the most romantic persons I know and where they are married their marriages seem about ideal. I think science will lead to deeper appreciations and understandings in the relations of the sexes.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. The idea of "throwing your voice" is probably as old as the Cave Men and in ancient times was widely used to control the actions of others. Even now it is used in spiritualistic seances by fakers to "bring back the spirits of the dead." For a fee the ventriloquist can fool the victim into thinking he is hearing the voice of some loved one in the other world.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. By "emotional" is here meant "easily upset," "feelings easily hurt," "regret past mistakes," "lack self-confidence," "feel inferior," "worry," etc. Dr. Raymond R. Willoughby, Brown University, tested 1,400 persons, married and unmarried, from 15 to 75 years of age on this kind of emotional scale. He found bachelors and husbands rated almost exactly alike on the average but there seemed to be a higher proportion of extremely emotional bachelors than husbands. Next week we shall see how the wives compared with the bachelor maids.

GENERAL STRIKE THREATS HEARD THROUGH FRANCE

Paris, Aug. 23.—(AP)—French labor leaders rallied their forces today to fight the Daladier government for retention of the 40-hour week, and labor circles foresaw the possibility of a general strike.

The general Confederation of Labor, which lists 5,000,000 members, and most other unions ordered their members to be ready for action.

Foremost in the offensive were waterfront unions, fighting government efforts to force Marseille stevedores to unload perishables during the week-end and thereby exceed their 40-hour work period. The Federation of Pork Workers' unions said "grave decisions" would be made soon unless extra pay for overtime was granted the Marseille members, and labor circles said this was a threat of a strike in all French ports.

The situation evolved from Premier Daladier's proposal on Sunday night to increase working periods to speed national defense and industrial output because of the uncertain international situation.

The minister of public works and the minister of labor, both members of the Socialist Union party, resigned but quickly were replaced by Anatole de Monzie and Charles Pomaret, members of the same small party, a relatively conservative offshoot of the main Socialist party.

This did not ease opposition to Daladier's plan, however. Socialist and Communist sources said. They asserted there was dissatisfaction even among the premier's own Radical Socialist party, centrally-placed between the liberal left and the conservative right.

Persuasive Anglers Fined $200 and Cost

Batavia, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Fox river fishermen were still talking today about the three cago anglers who persuaded a lot of bass to jump into their boat.

It was against the law, however, and the three—George and Earl McClure and Emil Klauer—were fined a total of $200 and $40 costs by Justice of the Peace B. M. Brown. They were charged with violating the state game laws.

Jesse Miller, a taxi cab driver, testified yesterday that the three men rented a boat Saturday and rowed to sheltered inlet, well-stocked with bass. They tipped the boat on one side in shallow water, he said, and splashed about the stream, causing 34 bass to leap into the boat.

James Sears, deputy game warden, said 23 of the fish were undersized.

Mt. Morris Doings

Mrs. Lucy Meeker, Reporter.

BY MRS. LUCY MECKER EMPLOY NEW TEACHER

Miss Marian Symphon, who has taught home economics in the Mt. Morris Community high school for the past eight years, has asked the board to be released of her contract, as she has been appointed home adviser for Lee county.

Miss Sarah Gnagey, who has been teaching at Ashton, has been hired to replace Miss Symphon. Miss Gnagey is a graduate of North Manchester college and has had advance work at Iowa state college, Ames, Iowa, in vocational home economics. Miss Gnagey has taught home economics in both Dakota and Ashton high schools and comes to Mt. Morris very highly recommended.

Miss Gnagey has always been active in working with young people and has been a leader in young people's camps during the summer vacation.

The board of education feels fortunate in securing such a capable and highly recommended teacher at such a short time before the opening of school.

Skate at Dixon every afternoon and evening. Private parties any night. (Adv.)

FUNERAL ON MONDAY

Funeral services were held on Monday at Byron for Mrs. Jennie Shank, mother of Albert Shank, who lives just north of Mt. Morris. Mrs. Shank died on Saturday afternoon of injuries sustained when her left arm became caught in a washing machine wringer on Aug. 9.

The former Jennie Lookabaugh was born in Franklin county, Pa., on Dec. 24, 1865. She was married December 24, 1889 to John Shank who survives. She is also survived by one daughter, Mrs. Neva McKee, Byron, and four sons, Howard, Byron, Harry, Manon township; Albert of Mt. Morris and Walter of Byron, and five grandchildren. Mrs. Shank was active in the life of her community, being a member of the Byron Woman's club, Relief Corps, Byron grange and P. L. A.

Two cousins residing in Mt. Morris, Mrs. Hurley Longman and Mrs. Mary Grush, attended the services. They were accompanied by a niece of Mrs. Longman's Mrs. Earl Hovis.

GRUSH REUNION

The Grush family reunion was held Sunday at the Legion hall in Polo with dinner at the Coffee Shop. Attending from Mt. Morris were Mrs. Mary Grush and daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Grush and Mrs. Gladys Jones and daughter Mary Jane. Polo members of the family were Mr. and Mrs. John Lampin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parks, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Parks and daughter Jean. From the greatest distance were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grush and daughter Mary and Miss Lulu Grush, Falls City, Neb. Others from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Horner and children of Lakark; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Cramer and Mrs. Sarah Kleppin, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Harbaugh, E. E. Wells and A. K. Cornelius, Waterloo, Iowa; W. L. Grush, Keosauke, Iowa; Alex Grush, Naperville, Ill. and Mrs. A. J. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dunn and children and Mrs. R. H. Tiffany, Freeport. After the business meeting and program the Grushes of Illinois treated the out of state people to refreshments before they departed for their various homes.

ARE GUESTS HERE

Rev. and Mrs. P. O. Beery, La-Habra, Calif., are guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. West, arriving in Mt. Morris Saturday noon. Mrs. Beery was formerly Miss Miriam Stover, daughter of the late Rev. W. B. Stover. They enjoyed the band concert Saturday evening. Miriam is a former member of the band. On Sunday Rev. Beery preached at the local Church of the Brethren. In the morning, and Rev. Beery sang in the evening. Rev. Beery preached at the Cherry Grove church where W. E. West is pastor, and Mrs. Beery again sang a solo. Mrs. Beery has a rich, full voice, typical of all the Stovers, and her solos were greatly enjoyed. Sunday afternoon, Rev. and Mrs. Beery called on the Paul Emmerts in Mt. Carroll. Mr. Emmert is a cousin of Mrs. Beery's. Monday evening the Beerys were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Powers.

PERSONAL EVENTS

Mrs. U. B. Pittinger spent the week-end with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert McManes in Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Schaar and daughter Frances and Miss Grace Riston drove to LaCrosse, Wis., Monday.

Merle Henricks was thrown from his motorcycle Sunday evening receiving severe head injuries.

Miss Isabel Kelsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelsey, was guest soloist at the Methodist church in Oregon Sunday morning singing, "Today If You Will Hear His Voice," by Rogers. She was accompanied at the piano by Jimmie Asp.

Mrs. Boyd Grush and daughter

Mary Katherine visited from Thursday to Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. Katherine Judge in Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Withers entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Missman and son Clifford, Mrs. Alice Missman, Mrs. Minerva Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shaver, Dixon and Robert Anderson and Robert Farmer of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Neher and Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Jewett are vacationing this week at Beasley lake north of Waupaca, Wis.

Miss Mildred Grush and Miss Lou Cartha Jones spent the week-end in Chicago.

Mrs. Alice Olsen returned home Sunday from Chicago where she visited her brother at Fort Sheridan and Rev. and Mrs. R. Hoover in Chicago and with the Hoovers and Mr. and Mrs. Axel Johnston attended the Chicago music festival at Soldier Field where they saw Jimmie Corrigan. She returned Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Johnston.

Callers at the Ralph Thomas home Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Begeman, Miss Hilary Begeman and Miss William of Sandburn, Ind.; Mrs. Mary Forney, LaVerne, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Myers of Aurora. Mr. and Mrs. Myers came to hear the band concert and call on various relatives and friends in town. Mrs. Myers is a niece of Ralph Thomas. Mrs. Forney was accompanied to Mt. Morris by her son Max and wife who were week-end guests in the Oscar Jern home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barbee and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Flora and three children of Baldwin, Kas., were visitors at the Brookfield zoo Sunday. The Floras left Monday for their home in Kansas after a week of visiting and sight seeing with the Barbees.

Bernard Lamm is a guest this week in the home of his brother and sister, Mrs. Klen Kretsinger.

BALL CLUBS ARE NOW BEGINNING TO SHOW STRAIN

Several League Teams are Hard-Hit Due to Many Injuries

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.,
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a long grind from spring baseball training in February or March to the World Series in October, and the boys really begin to feel the strain about this time. Pitchers who have been winning regularly begin to blow up, batters experience sudden slumps and injuries strike more frequently.

More than one pennant contender has suffered from these ill effects already. And if the current leaders, the New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates, fail to remain on top it probably will be because of injuries, weariness or both.

The New York Giants, with Carl Hubbell in the hospital, Lou Chiozza retired, and Bob Seeds unable to play, and the Chicago Cubs, who lost Manager Gabby Hartnett and have had various other stars on the shelf, have been hardest hit. The Boston Red Sox lost Lefty Grove with a sore arm; Cleveland's mound staff seems to have worn out and even the Yanks haven't escaped entirely.

Red Rolfe, Myril Hoag and Bill Dickey suffered bruises during the past few days, but the Yankee mound staff is reported in fine shape for their ten games against Chicago and Cleveland in five days. Pittsburgh hasn't reported any serious injuries, but has shown plenty of signs of weariness lately.

One Good Spurt

The Bucs had one good spurt left, however, and big Jim Tobin had plenty of "stuff" in his pitching as Pittsburgh knocked off Chicago 4-2 yesterday in their last game before opening a home stand against the east.

With the score tied at 1-1 in the seventh, the Pirates jumped on Clay Bryant for four hits and broke up the mound duet. Tobin gave only five hits, one a homer by a Carl Reynolds.

The defeat dropped Chicago back into fourth place as the Cincinnati Reds hit hard, as usual, behind Paul Derringer and wall-pedaled the St. Louis Cardinals 11-4. Derringer earned his 17th victory with 18-hit support.

Cleveland's Bobby Feller, trying a new pitching style, seemed to have recovered his old effectiveness for seven innings, giving only six hits and fanning eight. But the eighth gave Chicago's White Sox three runs and a 4-2 victory. As a result the Tribe started east 11½ games behind the Yankees and only one ahead of Boston.

"Eagle the Great"

"Eagle the Great," the high school horse with the college education, owned by George Ault of Kirkland, which will be a feature attraction at the Lee county fair and horse show at the Airport Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Eagle will perform in a class by himself, appearing in a program of high school stunts and tricks. All of the association prizes to be contested for at the Dixon horse show will be awarded at the closing event of the season at the Ault stock farm east of Kirkland next month.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

GAME FOR THURSDAY

Local followers of the teams in the Illinois State Baseball league will be interested in the game on Thursday afternoon at the Farmers' picnic at Rochelle when the West Brooklyn squad plays the Rochelle team.

FOR SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Dixon team will try their luck against the 1937 state champion amateur baseball team from Oglesby, Ill. on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Reynolds field. The local lads will get in shape for the affair by practicing Thursday and Friday nights.

ALL-STARS GAME

Just because softball is having a vacation this week, it doesn't follow that the interest is falling off. The schedule will be resumed on Monday and then there's that important All-Stars game on September 11. Bennie Howard might be using this time to groom his new team.

TO CALL PLAYS

George Cies, Charles Kearney and Al Wieman have been chosen to referee for the city's championship tennis matches to be played between Dick Joslyn and George Covert Sunday morning, starting at 9:30 o'clock. The Telegraph is awarding a handsome bronze trophy to the winner.

WELL, WELL, WHAT'S THIS?

A complete check-up on the standings in the Illinois State Baseball league reveals that Dixon leads the pack to date—and the three-way tie will not be tangled until after Welland plays Waiton on Sunday and Paw Paw plays West Brooklyn. However, that seems destined to make the knot but upsets have been known to occur in the league. Remember the first Welland game, Walton? In the event that both West Brooklyn and Walton win, a three-way tie will be played off at the end of the season. The standings, according to our figures, are:

| | W. L. Pct. |
|---------------|------------|
| Dixon | 11 3 .785 |
| West Brooklyn | 10 3 .769 |
| Walton | 10 3 .769 |
| Maintown | 10 4 .714 |
| Rochelle | 5 9 .342 |
| Paw Paw | 4 9 .307 |
| Ohio | 2 12 .142 |
| Welland | 1 12 .076 |

Jim Tobin, Pirates—Hurled five-hit ball to turn back Cubs, 4-2.

PANTHERS WIN DOUBLEHEADER OVER WEEKEND

Local Team Extends Its Victories to Ten
Straight

The Panthers traveled to Sterling Sunday to play their first game of a doubleheader against the Elkhorn Sluggers.

Reynolds was on the mound and pitched a beautiful game, allowing the Sluggers only three hits. The Sterling team scored its only run in the fourth inning on a walk, a hit and an error in outfield.

Going into the fifth inning the Panthers were trailing by a 1 to 0 score. Dempsey, the first man up, went down by the strike out route but went to first when the catcher dropped the third strike. Burke was the next man up, was walked and Glessner hit safely for his second hit of the day, driving in two runs ahead of him. The Dixon team scored again in their half of the seventh on hits by Jack Burke and Slain.

Second Game

In the second game of the twin bill the Panthers had a little trouble in taking the Rochelle team in a game played here at Reynolds field. Ten innings were needed to triumph 7 to 6 on the final count. In a previous game this season the Panthers had no trouble in defeating Rochelle, but last Sunday the local lads considered themselves lucky to win. Poor defense plays on the field left Kupper in constant hot water throughout the game. Despite the poor support he was plenty tough in the pinches and struck out 13 batsmen.

Going into the seventh inning the Panthers were on the short end of the 5 to 4 score. After two men were out Slain, the Dixon first baseman, stepped into the batter's box and greeted Eckhart with a tremendous home run into right field tying up the score.

Both teams scored again in the eighth inning and going into the ninth the score was again knotted at six all.

Neither team scored in its half of the ninth and the game went into extra innings. Rochelle failed to push over a run in their half of the added inning. Slain started off the tenth with a walk and later stole second base. Wolford, the clean up man, came through with his second hit of the day, with a line drive single into center field, driving home the winning run and extending the Panthers' winning streak to 10 straight games.

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEES ARE GIVEN WARNING

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A half-million Federal employees have been reminded they must stay out of politics or suffer severe penalties.

The Civil Service Commission issued a statement yesterday, under a two-inch heading "Warning", emphasizing that workers who attained positions through competitive examinations (classified employees) risked discharge for such slight infractions as wearing campaign buttons.

Executive or judicial officers or employees, the notice added, could be fined $5,000 and imprisoned for three years for soliciting campaign contributions from other Federal officials or employees.

The notice pointed out that even presidential appointees were prohibited from serving on political committees, soliciting funds, displaying "obtrusive partisanship," or using their positions to further any candidate's cause.

Among the added restrictions on classified employees are:

Organizing, conducting or addressing political meetings.

Engaging in public political discussions.

Manifesting "offensive activity at polling places.

Serving as an election officer.

Distributing campaign literature or circulating petitions.

Becoming "prominently identified" with any political movement, party or faction.

Unclassified employees were not included in the notice. Other statutes prohibit them from using their official positions to influence elections.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTmarsh

THE CHARACTERS

Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.
 Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.
 Rene Geiss, a singularly unpleasant cartoonist.

Yesterday: A big American named Dunning tries to pry information out of us.

Chapter 14 Shattering Experience

Early the next morning I was awakened by a tapping on the pane. I rolled out of bed and, as I turned to the window, saw a face staring at me through the green wretched opening.

"Jean-Francois!" I said, startled, and then, with rising irritation: "And what the devil do you mean by spoiling the best night's sleep I've had in weeks?"

Jean-Francois slipped noiselessly into the room. He was a sorry sight, wan and disheveled. By the look of him, he hadn't seen a bed that night.

"Monsieur," he said, "I am desolated to disarrange you, but I have had a nerve-shattering experience."

"Go on," I said encouragingly. He shuddered slightly, as at a painful memory, and began his story. He had tried, he said, throughout the day to get a line on Geiss's household and way of life, but beyond the fact that his staff consisted of a man and wife, a surly couple who kept themselves to themselves, he had found nothing. And then suddenly chance favored him.

"I stood," he said, "on the corner of the rue de Dragon, waiting for an inspiration, when suddenly the gate of the villa opened and a man and woman came out. I followed!"

He had followed the couple to a small cafe in the fisher quarter, entering it on their heels. Jean-Francois found a strategic table halfway between them and the door and sat down to study them behind the cover of a newspaper. It was then that he received a shock, for he knew their faces.

There had been, he said, a peculiarly scandalous police-court case in Marseilles ten years before, in which a man and his wife had been accused of baby-farming on a large scale. Jean-Francois, despite his tender years, had followed the case, in all its ghastly details, with intense eagerness. The baby-farming had been proved, the neglect of the infants resulting in many deaths; but the murder of a certain number, though suspected, could not be substantiated, and the couple received sentences of five years apiece.

It was not unnatural that Jean-Francois, finding himself opposite them in the cafe, should experience excitement, not unmixed with a shuddering apprehension. "For, you will understand, monsieur," he explained naively, "that they were not nice people."

"I can quite imagine it," I answered gravely. He made an expressive grimace. "Ah," said he, "but I was not dismayed. I waited my chance to scrape acquaintance!"

It came in a minute, with the loan of a newspaper and the offer of a drink. Polite exchange of compliments showed that the couple, though willing enough to be treated as long as their new acquaintance's cash held out, were chary of letting information slip; but the cognac, though it did not loosen their tongues, appreciably mellowed their tempers, and when Jean-Francois suggested the purchase of a couple of bottles and the adjournment of the sitting to their abode, they agreed readily enough, admitting that their patron was away for the night and they were free agents.

The sitting lasted until the small hours of the morning, and by that time his hosts were comfortably slumbering in their chairs. Jean-Francois took credit to himself that, by dint of spinning out his drinks, he was still in very fair condition, but he was filled at the same time with an immense disgust, for, beyond the news that there was a certain room into which they were never permitted to enter under pain of instant dismissal, he had learned nothing. It appeared to Jean-Francois that two good bottles of cognac had gone completely and irrevocably down the drain.

A Tour of Inspection.

And then a bright idea struck him. As his hosts were out of action for a considerable period, it was, he thought, a Heaven-sent opportunity to have a look at the rest of the house, and forthwith set off on a tour of inspection.

It was a large place, richly furnished, with two great salons, a dining room, and a big, bare studio. But there was another door at the end of a short passage whose lock defied his amateur efforts at cracksmanship, and he felt, suddenly and unshakably, that here was the hidden room into which the servants might not enter, and that inside it lay the secret of the house.

A prospecting tour round the outside showed him a one-story oblong windowless but roofed with a glass dome, that he knew must be the locker room, and a tour round the upper story disclosed a small closet through whose window an agile man might climb and drop onto the lead parapet. It needed only an instant for him to put the thought into execution. There was a skylight in the dome, partly open, and he squeezed through it, dropping, bruised but triumphant, on the floor beneath.

He found himself, he said, in the strangest room he had ever seen. The outside was an oblong, but the chamber within was hexagonal. There was a black pile carpet on the floor, and the walls were hung with black velvet curtains. In the center of the room was something like a prie-dieu, also in black, with a small, sable-covered table before it, and opposite the door, behind a longer, narrow table also draped in black, was a dais, with the statue of a goat in white marble.

He had searched the room, he continued, and found nothing else of interest—no papers, no indication of the purpose for which it was used—and on that conclusion he began to think of making a retreat. It was then that he realized that there were certain difficulties to be overcome, for it was one thing to drop from the dome and quite another to climb up to it again.

He sat down to think matters out. There was nothing to be done, it seemed, but to wait until such time as Geiss or his unpleasant retainers should open the door of the room, and the thought of what would happen after that caused a gentle sweat to break out on his body.

He sat there perhaps for one hour, perhaps two; he had no watch, and the minutes dragged by on leaden feet—when suddenly there came an interruption. He heard a faint scratching at the door of the room and realized that someone was inserting a key in the lock. He had barely time to dart behind a curtain when the door opened and someone entered the room. He heard foot-steps moving to and fro, a muffled thumping, and on that, plucking up his courage, he drew the curtain aside and peered around it.

Escape

A dim figure stood before the prie-dieu, engaged in shaking out and replacing the cushions that covered it, and as his eyes focused themselves, he saw that it was a woman. She wore a sort of overall, and her head was tied up in a checked duster, but her face he could not see. It was evident, however, from her actions, that she had come to clean the room.

Finally he saw her turn and pass out through the door, which to his unspeakable relief, she left ajar. In a flash he was across the room, peering down the corridor, but though he could hear her footsteps crossing the hall, there was no other sound of life. Holding his breath, for he knew he had no time to lose, he crept along the passage and found himself in the empty hall.

The front door was opposite him, and with a dart he was beside it, had turned the well-oiled handle, and was sprinting down the glass-roofed path. In another instant he found himself in the golden light of sunrise, standing alone in the deserted road.

He was tired, he was hungry, and his nerve was not a little shaken, but insatiable curiosity had him in its grip. If, he reasoned, it was true that the malodorous couple were the only servants in the house, than this woman, whoever she was, would leave the house, once her strange task was done, and he wanted to see where she went.

It must have been a quarter of an hour that he waited, but finally there came the click of the gate and he saw her emerge. The print over all had gone, and she wore in its place a faded cotton dress, topped with a short, blue flannel coat. She might, he thought, have been anything between thirty-five and fifty. But what startled him most was the realization—and this he was emphatic about—that she was an Englishwoman.

She made off down the street, and he followed, using all the precaution he could; but he need not have bothered, for she never turned her head.

He stuck to the trail nobly, until he saw her insert a gigantic key into the lock of an imposing gateway, cross a gravel sweep, and vanish round the angle of a large house.

"And the building—what was it?" I demanded.

He spread out his hands apologetically. "Monsieur, what an anticlimax! It was only a private hotel—the Chateau la Vague, I regret much," he added, looking like a small boy whose sum has come out wrong, "that I could do no better."

It took me a full minute to assimilate this surprising information. "Son," I said at last, patting him on the shoulder, "you've done better than you know. Here are your marching orders. Go back to your grandmother and have a good day's sleep. When you've rested, see what you can discover about an American gentleman by the name of Dunning, who says he's a correspondent for the Chicago Express. Find out where he's staying, what he's doing, and whom he's meeting. You can report to me tonight."

SCHOOL OPENS AUG. 29.

Opening date for the Lee Center grade and high school has been set for Monday, August 29. Prospects are for an increased enrollment in both the grade and the high school for this year.

The boards of education are continuing their efforts toward providing the best in educational opportunity for the students of the Lee Center community. The grade school was dedicated to superior rating last year. The high school was dedicated to recognition by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and Accredited by the University of Illinois last year.

Vocational home economics and agriculture have been added to the high school with the approval of the state director of vocational education. A complete department of home-making with new equipment and decorations is attractive to the eye and offers the girls of the community the opportunity of choice in vocational and academic education. The agriculture department is remodeling in keeping with the suggestion of the state department of vocational agriculture.

The faculty for the school year 1938-39 is as follows: T. Lloyd Traugher—Superintendent, Agriculture and Biology. Herbert Blodgett—Science, Mathematics and Coach.

Lois Elliott—English, Latin and Dramatics.

Mildred Willig—Commerce, History and Music.

Arlene—General Home Economics, Welfare Science and Girls' Phys. Training.
